

It's Curable!

Check your computer's IQ. Search with three questions starting with "Is Addison's disease or adrenal exhaustion curable?" Then "is arthritis of knees in old age curable"? Next ask "Is hypothyroidism curable"? The answer you should get for all three questions is "incurable" Now stare hard at your computer and say loudly and firmly THEY ARE ALL CURABLE STUPID!

The answers from your computer are presumably what the smartest doctors think. They think "incurable". The truth is the opposite. At 87 I am living proof. There are many like me who can testify to the same thing. This doesn't mean doctors are stupid. It only means they're not trained right. That's why RFK Jr. in April 2025 warned that medical schools must teach nutrition or lose federal funding. Meanwhile don't get upset. Garbage in garbage out. It's just a dumb computer giving you the "consensus of medical opinion". However you need to take a strong stand or dumb computers can get away with anything. Some people believe every word they say.

Now tell your computer - listen up dummy! To suggest that the Creator of heaven and earth and billions of galaxies can't cure these diseases with the powers of fresh air, water, food sunshine, herbs, truth, and love is beyond stupid, dumb, blind, ignorant, disrespectful, profane, cruel, blasphemous, and sacrilegious. Where humans fail, God prevails. He has creation powers you know not of that work in tandem with the powers of His spirit. Our God is in the miracle business! No other power comes close.

Adrenal exhaustion or Addison's disease, hypothyroidism, diabetes, all are hormone problems. Your computer offers a "treatment" for these, but no cure. It's called HRT or hormone replacement therapy. It's the insulin doctors prescribe when the pancreas gets tired. It's the adrenal or thyroid hormones prescribed when those glands weaken or fail. Prescribing hormones to supplement what glands are too weak to make is the only option they know. Nobody told them that God has ways to rebuild tired, stressed, weak, and worn out glands. That's because rebuilding body parts only works by things made by God (mother nature). You cannot patent a natural biomolecule to make a killing.

CAUTION: if on HRT talk to your doctor before stopping/reducing medication. Rebuilding glands takes time. Don't kill yourself trying to heal yourself.

Meanwhile drug companies love dumb computers and poorly trained doctors. They also love chemical farming, food processing, and the failure of churches to teach God's ways. The more that get sick the better as they smile all the way to the bank while America gets sicker and sicker. My healing of Addison's disease or adrenal exhaustion 47 years ago began when I learned from a wise doctor that adrenal glands store more vitamin C than any other part. Ah, a clue. I began to eat more fresh fruits and vegetables rich in C as I also studied the balancing of key body systems. In time my adrenals recovered as did my low blood pressure, blackouts (postural hypotension), panic attacks, irregular heartbeat etc. From near death to near perfect health - it's wonderful.

More recently in my 60s I got sore knees and bought a crutch. This "incurable" issue repeated in my 70s and 80s. Besides balancing key body systems I used unsaponifiables, cod liver oil, more raw and fewer cooked foods, nothing too complicated. Today I hike and bike without an ache or pain.

Bottom line - God can cure what modern medicine only "treats". Manmade chemicals don't have the power. Tell your pastor or priest. Even if doctors knew where the power lies, would they know how to use it? They might if they learned some secrets from a patient with a Nutrition-For-Life kit!
